

Sexy senior's a lulu in lingerie!

Her modeling career led to a desire to empower women

Ex-Playboy bunny Dorrie, 83, fights old ideas about beauty

Dorrie was part of Hugh Hefner's empire in the 1960s

MEET Dorrie Jacobson — the world's oldest lingerie model!

At 83, the former Playboy bunny is happily posing in some racy ensembles to prove growing old doesn't mean women should stop being sexy.

"Age is not a number, it's an attitude," declares Dorrie. "We do not have an expiration date."

The great-grandmother, who lives in Las Vegas, runs her own blog, seniorstylebible.com, which has become an online sensation with thousands of followers from all over the world.

"I wanted to do something to combat ageism," she shares. "I didn't see older women being represented. It also makes me feel self-confident. I wanted to grab people's attention and show them that older women can still be hip, they can still be trendy and sexy."

"The response has been incredible. I hope I am an inspiration to women. I want to shake things up a bit."

"Being a Playboy bunny was very liberating and very glamorous. It gave me a self-confidence I have carried with me for my entire life. You can't just stop with life when you retire. You have to stay active."

"Get out there and enjoy life!"

"I wanted to do something to combat ageism"

Current photographs: Jodi Jacobson